RIGHT DIRECTION

President Roosevelt's announcement that he has ordered the budget director to make a survey of federal spending is good news. It will strengthen confidence in the administration.

Why did Mr. Roosevelt wait until the middle of February to order a survey to disclose the possibility of reducing expenditures? He submitted his budget recommendations early in January—recommendations which carried no suggestion of reduction.

Apparently, the administration is trying to recapture
the support it has lost by giving the appearance of being too liberal with public money. Passage of the bonus bill, invalidation of the AAA and insistent popular demand for an about-face on constant increases in appropriations have prompted a revision of policy.

It remains to be seen what the economy survey will disclose. If conducted sincerely and thoroughly, it will be a valuable document. It could be made worthless, of course, by insincerity. What could Lewis Douglas, former budget director, find if he still were an official of the administration?

After the report has been submitted, congress will have an opportunity to prove what can be done to restore federal spending to a more moderate basis.
Specifically, the Democratic party, which controls congress, will be responsible for showing voters that it is anxious to rid itself of the political taint of careless handling of the people's money.

It is difficult to see how President Roosevelt can fail to follow through with his order for an economy survey. Failure to do what he implies is going to be done would be worse than if he had not mentioned the possibility of putting the budget into better order.

THE BEST DEFENSE

Fortunately, members of the supreme court do not engage in public controversy—fortunately for more reasons than one.

Their silence lends dignity to their position. Privately, of course, supreme court justices engage in discussions, but their views as individuals rarely are available to the public.

Obviously, both the court and the members would be weakened by participation in the give and take of popular discussion. In politics, the best defense frequently is a good offense, but the court's best defense is silence.

It can be imagined that some of the justices must smart under the criticism so freely administered by certain men who have access to the various sounding boards supplied by government. Perhaps they would like to reply to some of the slanders which come to their attention.

In all probability, they could do a good job. It would be interesting to know what a few of them could do about the phrase "old fossils," applied to them by a member of the house of representatives a few days ago. Being a supreme court justice doesn't rob a man of the power of invective, even though it does restrain him in using it.

There would be scant satisfaction in replying to such criticism, however, because most of it really needs no reply. It speaks more eloquently of the caliber of its inventors than volumes of replies could speak.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—Thoughts while strolling:
Nbody can twist an apron end into an anguished ball
like Pauline Lord. Or strut about a cabaret floor like Harry Richman. Somehow I always except Norman Bel Geddes to be wearing a turban. Three famous Bucks—Gene, Pearl and Frank.

Look alike: Premier Laval and Mayor La Guardia.
Boy meets girl: Dick Maney petting Rosie, the Hippodrome elephant. Add attractive red-heads: Mrs.
John Chapman. Lillian Gish's perpetual expression of timorous innocence is drama in itself. Trigger stuff—an Edward VIII cafe all ready.

For the Look Just the Same as 15 Years Ago
Club: Tom Mix. From wonder child to wonder lady:
Helen Hayes. And Charlie MacArthur has fulfilled
his marriage promise to her "One thing is certain.
You'll never find life dull with me." How about a League for Those Once in Love with Cissie Loftus?

Mae Murray still gracefully waiting the nights away. Broadway's best known chop house lady—Helen Gallagher. Never knew a girl called Flo who wasn't a bit of a tomboy. Most expert of the derby wearers—the new British king. Old timer's sigh:
"The right world but the wrong generation."

Zither-playing names—Eva Symington and Spring Byington. Dusky Josephine Baker topsy turvies Paris for years but New York bestows only an indifferent shrug. Why is that? Those frosted cakes in Schrafft's windows affect me emotionally around 6
p. m. I want to bay like a hound!

P. Scott Fitzgerald, greying and chunking up, is reputedly one of the most difficult authors from whom editors may wangle stories these days. He is the literary symbol of an era—the era of the new generation—and editors continue to want stories of flask gin and courteous collegiates preceding ladies through windshields on midnight joy rides. The public has acquired this Fitzgerald taste, too. But Fitzgerald has taken an elderly and naturally serious turn. Mellowed is the term. He wants to write mellowly, too. And if they won't let him he won't write at all. So there.

Chinatown is feeling the pinch of the times. Its opulence depends on tourists. I counted but four other diners outside of our party of three at the Port Arthur the other evening. There was a droop to the big and piano-box souvenir shops and we were the sole visitors to the prop joss house. But Chinatown has never been the same for me since the passing of its pseudo-Mayor, Chuck Connors.
Chuck, as a guide, ventilated exaggerations that made one scent opium, look about furtively for a flying tong hatchet and the slippery tread of local Pu Manchus, Chinatown has always been 80 percent phony but with an efficient clerone it provided a shudder or so for visiting cousins.

Prazer Hunt's ranch in Alberta, Canada, adjoins that of King Edward and it was in this communion that Hunt authored "The Bachelor Prince," a biography of the then Prince of Wales. No American likely has known the new king more informally. He has ridden range with him, played poker in a lamp-lit ranch house and feasted on midnight beer and cheese while each discussed their jaunts to all parts of the world. But such contacts are now lost forever. The new king will never travel again, save to India, to receive his emperors. One of Hunt's prized possessions is an enlarged kodak of him and the prince horseback autographed "To Spike-E. P."

Paul Whiteman is another American who has met the king in after midnight informality. During his year's stay with his band in London, the Prince on several occasions sent for Paul and his boys—Bing Crosby and Pee-wee Byers among them
—and when everybody had departed kept the band leader for a night cap. He likes a sip of beer before retiring.

Major Bowes has become the most gifted man in America. It sometimes requires a truck working all day to carry the perishable stuff to hospitals and orphanages. From Wyoming, for instance, the other day came a 250 pound elk with instructions for Oscar to prepare it for 25 of the Major's friends. The same day 20 crates of grapefruit from Florida, etc. etc.

On page 266 of "Cornish of Scotland Yard" last night I read about Mr. Ingleby Oddie, Coroner of London. And ever since I've been peering down cellars and looking up smoke stacks muttering: "Who has the body, Mr. Ingleby Oddie?"

THE STARS SAY

For Saturday, February 15

Judging by the lunar transits in operation on this day, there should be much activity and energetic launching of cherished plans and projects, with successful and profitable denouements excepting for those in employment. The latter are under a rather adverse ray from the luminaries. It would be best under such reign to rely on individual initiative rather than seek support from superiors. There is also a sign of lively doings in the realm of the social, domestic and romantic. With sagacity it should be a gratifying day.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very active and enterprising year, with much success in launching new projects on individual initiative rather than in connection with employers or superiors. The fortunes may be accelerated on this independent score, and the personal life will find much liveliness
and gratification.

A child born on this day may be energetic and constructive, and will make its greatest successes on its own initiative. It will be popular and have a happy life.

Care of Teeth

There is no doubt that the present day public health movements have resulted in marked changes in the very fundamentals of medicine.
These changes have been effected through extensive research work and the application of scientific discoveries. The advancements in the field of dentistry play an important part in improved
public health conditions. Today
everyone accepts dentistry as one
of the learned and outstanding professions. That is a achievement
of the present century. Prior to 1834 what has become an important branch of medicine was considered a trade for which little or no training was required. It was customary in olden days to permit teeth to decay. The work of the dentist was hardly more than to extract, to "pull," diseased teeth and even this treatment was not applied until the pain became unbearable.

Dr. Copeland

Today many constitutional ailments can be traced to infection somewhere in the body. For this reason the physician always inspects the patient's teeth to make sure that the infection is not in the mouth. To confirm his suspicions he sends the patient to the dentist to have the teeth x-rayed.
This is indeed wise, because the most serious infections as far as the general health is concerned, do not cause pain. The x-ray will reveal the true conditions.

I cannot overstate the importance of caring for the teeth and preventing decay. It is true that the proper foods and a high state of nutrition will do much to build healthy teeth and keep them that way. But it is necessary to see your dentist in order to be on guard for signs of beginning tooth decay. He will examine your teeth for tiny cracks and holes. If there are any

Women should take only liquid
laxatives

MORE people could feel fine, be fit and regular, if they would only follow the rule of doctors and hospitals in relieving constipation.

Never take any laxative that is harsh in action. Or one, the dose of which can't be exactly measured.
Doctors know the danger if this rule is violated. They use liquid laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity.
You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why it should be a liquid like Syrup Pepsin.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if it doesn't give you absolute relief, if it isn't a joy and comfort in the way
it overcomes biliousness due to constipation, your money back.

Diet Counts

In addition to personal attention to the teeth and mouth, it is essential to include in the diet foods which are rich in tooth-building elements. I refer to lime, phosphorus and vitamin D. When these substances are not consumed freely
the teeth become soft and readily decay.

Foods rich in these valuable substances are fresh fruits, cereals, milk, cream, butter, eggs and cod liver oil. Abundant sunshine promotes the formation of good teeth
as well as sturdy bones. Cod liver oil is given particularly to young children because it contains large amounts of vitamin D.

Bear in mind that proper attention to the teeth will prevent much ill health. Report to your doctor and your dentist at least once a year.

HOME MAKING HELPS

SOMETHING THAT began as a hobby has now approached epidemic proportions. We refer to the terrarium, that garden in glass, so simple to make and yet home-like in its effect. It is a world of its own, a miniature world of plants and animals, a world that can be seen and touched, and yet is so far from the real world. For these terrariums are made in glass bottles or glass containers of various shapes and sizes, and are filled with a mixture of soil, sand, and water, and are then sealed up. The plants are then placed in the terrarium, and the animals are added. The result is a miniature world of its own, a world that can be seen and touched, and yet is so far from the real world.

Gaining popularity are those that call for plenty of water. These are ideal for planting in a container. First shallow soil is put in the bottle—sand and soil mixed with garden earth. Then a layer of ferns is placed in the bottle. Of course, when it comes to introducing the plants, the more important than anything else is to secure the right soil. Tweezers or tongs are recommended, but many enthusiasts contrive their own from stiff wire which is bent according to the shape of the plant.

Care of Plant. You will want advice, too, as to the various plants for their is a list of beautiful shrubs and growing things from which to select the specimens for your terrarium. But whatever plants are selected it is best to put them in the terrarium while quite small, and to keep the glass vessel cool for a few weeks before it is brought into the quarters. Impatience will do the best effort and care in bringing just as it does most other things.

After the plants have been settled, the earth properly arranged, much must be provided and the terrarium should be as low as possible. A gentle draft of air should be permitted if heat cannot be regulated from within the room. Unless it comes from the sun in winter, direct sunshine is undesirable. From time to time, the soil should be stirred up, the earth pushed from the sides of the glass. All this sounds too complicated, but it might be better to start with one of the little square terrariums, to all intents and purposes, little greenhouses, and to use a bottle terrarium in more familiar with the plants and care of these lovely little things.

Condemned Prisoner Excluded From Own Execution Rehearsal

(By Associated Press)
CANON CITY, Colo., Feb. 14.—Excluded from a rehearsal of his own execution, Otis McDaniels, 30, scorned the privileges of the condemned today as he awaited a trip to Colorado's lethal gas chamber.

Yesterday 100 convicts watched a tiny wisp of smoke curl up from the floor of the death chamber and saw a pig topple over dead.

Tonight McDaniels will take the place of the pig. He was convicted of killing Sheriff V. W. Dunlap of Montezuma county.

The condemned man chided prison officials for not letting him watch the pig die in the gas chamber yesterday.

"I would have liked to have seen it," he said as he waited in the hospital ward for the summons to the death house.

Warden Roy Best said 100 convicts were permitted to view yesterday's test of the gas house because he wanted to convince them that a death sentence "means death."

BAN IS DEFIED BY ROYALISTS

Outlawing of "King's Henchmen" Provokes Disorder, Arouses Apprehension

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK (Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Feb. 14.—The outlawing of France's royalist brigades, "the king's henchmen," provoked short-lived disorders and aroused apprehension today over possible consequences of the ban, virtually defied by the most militant royalists.

Premier Albert Sarraut, whose decree dissolving all militant royalist organizations in France was signed by President Albert Lebrun and promulgated today, took command of the situation in his capacity as minister of the interior.

Police searched the headquarters of the "Action Francaise"—the royalist party, the "marching wing" of which is known as "the king's henchmen"—but Sarraut indicated he was reluctant to order arrest of the leaders for fear of rekindling the flames of rioting which flared two years ago.

The premier confronted at the same time Socialist demands for stern action against royalist leaders because of an attack yesterday on Leon Blum, veteran statesman and Socialist leader, the immediate cause of the royalist dissolution decree.

The Socialists were powerful enough to overthrow the government in the chamber of deputies if they failed to obtain satisfaction.

The royalists, on the other hand offered virtual defiance to the decree, which meant any public demonstration would be broken up and its participants prosecuted, as an ineffective measure.

N.Y. Woman's School Hit By Fire Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—A four alarm fire in Manhattan's most exclusive residential district today burned through three floors of Historic Hunter college, largest woman's school in the United States. No students were in the building at the time.

The death toll of the restaurant fire reached six last night when Robert Palombo, 63-year-old doorman succumbed. Twelve injured remained today in hospitals, five of them in a serious or critical condition.

Foreclosure Suit Brings Disclosure of Owner's Slaying

(By Associated Press)
PAINESVILLE, Feb. 14.—Sheriff Thomas J. Kilcawley said today only a few angles remained to be checked in the solving of a two-and-a-half-year-old slaying, which was unknown until a foreclosure suit led to its disclosure.

Kilcawley said Ezra Hoose, 46, Mentor township vineyard operator, had signed a confession that he killed his half-brother, Arley Parmelee, 55, former Painesville barber, in a fight Sept. 3, 1933.

Parmelee's body was found in a shallow grave late yesterday after Hoose had pointed out the spot to deputy sheriffs.

Hoose was requested today by County Prosecutor Harold U. Daniels, who said one or two discrepancies had been noted in his story. Kilcawley quoted Hoose as saying he shot his half-brother, but Coroner James C. Powell said preliminary examinations of the remains did not show evidence of gunshot wounds.

Parmelee's absence had been noted by neighbors but no investigation took place until filing of a foreclosure suit Jan. 29 by the Lake County Saving & Loan Co. Parmelee and several others were named. Futile efforts to serve Parmelee with papers in the case aroused the suspicions of attorneys and led to the investigation. Kilcawley said Hoose was questioned for nine hours.

Theater Attractions

Errol Flynn, the handsome Irish newcomer to the screen, will be seen at the State theater tonight and Saturday in Rafael Sabatini's famous story, "Captain Blood." This is a thrilling tale of sea pirates in the seventeenth century. Olivia de Havilland is his leading lady, portraying a noblewoman who falls in love with the pirate. Others in the cast are Lionel Atwill, Ross Alexander, Guy Kibbee and Basil Rathbone.

Sentenced to Slavery

Flynn portrays the famous character, Dr. Peter Blood, of Sabatini's novel. The story tells of his arrest on an unfair charge and his sentence to slavery in the West Indies by King James II. On the island to which the slaves are sent Blood is brought to the attention of the officials because of his skill in his profession, bravery and courage. He eventually becomes the physician to the governor of the island. Olivia de Havilland, niece of a cruel plantation owner, buys Blood when he is put up for sale, to save him from being sent to the mines at hard labor, the fate of any slave not purchased at sale.

With hatred in their hearts, Blood and a few chosen men board a ship lying in port, overpower the few guards left aboard, and sail away. With no country to which they can go, they enter into a career of piracy. Basil Rathbone portrays a pirate king with whom Blood and his men sign an agreement to work together and to divide their loot.

Not trusting Rathbone, Blood follows his ship, finds Olivia de Havilland a captive on board. Blood and his men defeat Rathbone and rescue the girl. Duels, battles, love and finally freedom come to Captain Blood during his career as a pirate.

Man of Adventure

Errol Flynn, the new star, is a man of adventure. He fought for the world's amateur heavyweight championship at the Olympic games in Amsterdam in 1928. He once was a member of the police force in New Guinea. He has been marooned on an island with malaria and has hunted wild game in Africa. Also among his adventures are gold prospecting and pearl diving. He sold his gold mine for $50,000 and lost the money in Australia. His first job in connection with motion pictures was as a guide for a picture company filming aborigines in New Guinea.

Olivia de Havilland and Errol Flynn appearing in "Captain Blood" at the State tonight and tomorrow.

The western for the Grand theater tonight and Saturday shows John Wayne in "The Oregon Trail." Wayne plays the role of a young army captain who goes into the almost impassable trails of the Rocky mountains to learn the fate of his father, an army colonel. Among his other adventures he finds romance with Ann Rutherford, who appears in the leading feminine role.

Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The political wise men looked toward the prairies today and wondered whether supporters of Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas would enter him in Republican presidential primaries on which increasing attention is centered.
The time is growing short.
Today is the last for filing in Illinois, a state at least where backers of Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, and Senator Borah of Idaho will do battle far in advance of convention days. Dates for filing in several other primary states will expire during the next month.

Borah, Roosevelt Ready
For some time there have been indications that President Roosevelt and Senator Borah plan to enter most of their respective party primaries this year.

Aside from Landon's speech at Topeka, Kans., several weeks ago, in which he touched upon current issues, he has been comparatively quiet for a potential candidate. Colonel Knox, on the other hand, has been on an anti-new deal speaking tour in the east for some time.

Before Knox left Boston last night to return to Chicago, he aimed another blow against what he called "the inabilities of the new deal." He forecast a solidly Republican New England in the November election.

Former President Hoover laughed but did not comment, when he was told at Portland Ore., that Secretary Tamm described him as "in a constant state of jitter." Hoover declared "the country is facing the most critical situation in 70 years," and pledged himself to continue fighting the new deal as long as it exists. He and his associate, Ben Allen, went to Seattle to confer with state Republican leaders.

Hit New Deal Attack
The non-partisan women congress sponsored by the Chicago Tribune heard attacks on the defense of the new deal last night. Senator Barkley (D. Ky.), the 1932 keynoter, challenged "those who indulge in unintelligent and indiscriminate criticism" of the administration.
Not since 1920, if ever, have presidential primaries played such a part in the pre-convention campaign. In that year General Leonard Wood, Governor Frank Lowden, and Senator Hiram Johnson, fought a widespread primary battle for the Republican nomination, and James M. Cox entered many of the Democratic primaries.

Many Landon supporters remained unworried by Senator Borah's activity, pointing out that in 1920 none of the three Republicans most active in the primaries got the nomination. It finally went to Warren G. Harding, a dark horse.

Struthers And Barberton To Clash In Lone Big Six Contest

SECOND ROUND UNDER WAY IN CLASS B LOOP

Columbians, Baptists and Christians Win Contests

The Columbians, Baptists and Christians came out on top in the second round of the Class B city basketball league. The Columbians, in their game with the Methodists, first round champions, were trailing at half-time, 13 to 16, but a third period rally put them out in front and they went ahead to a 30 to 24 victory.

Holding a commanding lead at the intermission, 16 to 6, the Baptists were pushed hard in the final period and were barely able to hold out the Trojans, 29 to 28. The Christians led the Trojans in scoring while Bennett led 15 points to garner honors for the Baptists.

The recently organized Bench Farmers quintet didn't fare so well in its tilt with the Christians and came out on the short end of a 29 to 20 score. The Christians led throughout the contest and held the B-W club scoreless in the first period.

HIGH ATHLETES VISIT CAPITAL

Columbus Junior C. of C. To Honor High School Talent with Banquet

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—Ohio's high school athletic talent—mostly from the state's western half—will visit Columbus Saturday to shake hands with "Joe Col" and dine at the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Junior Chamber invited the athletes to the banquet as a reward for their outstanding play last fall and to show them the advantages of Ohio State so that they might decide to do their future playing on the Buckeye gridiron.

The Ohio State campus will be secured from one end to the other by the visiting stars. Buckeye grid-ironers will take each of them in hand, show him about the fraternity house and introduce him to the other members. A dip in the new stadium pool also is on the program.

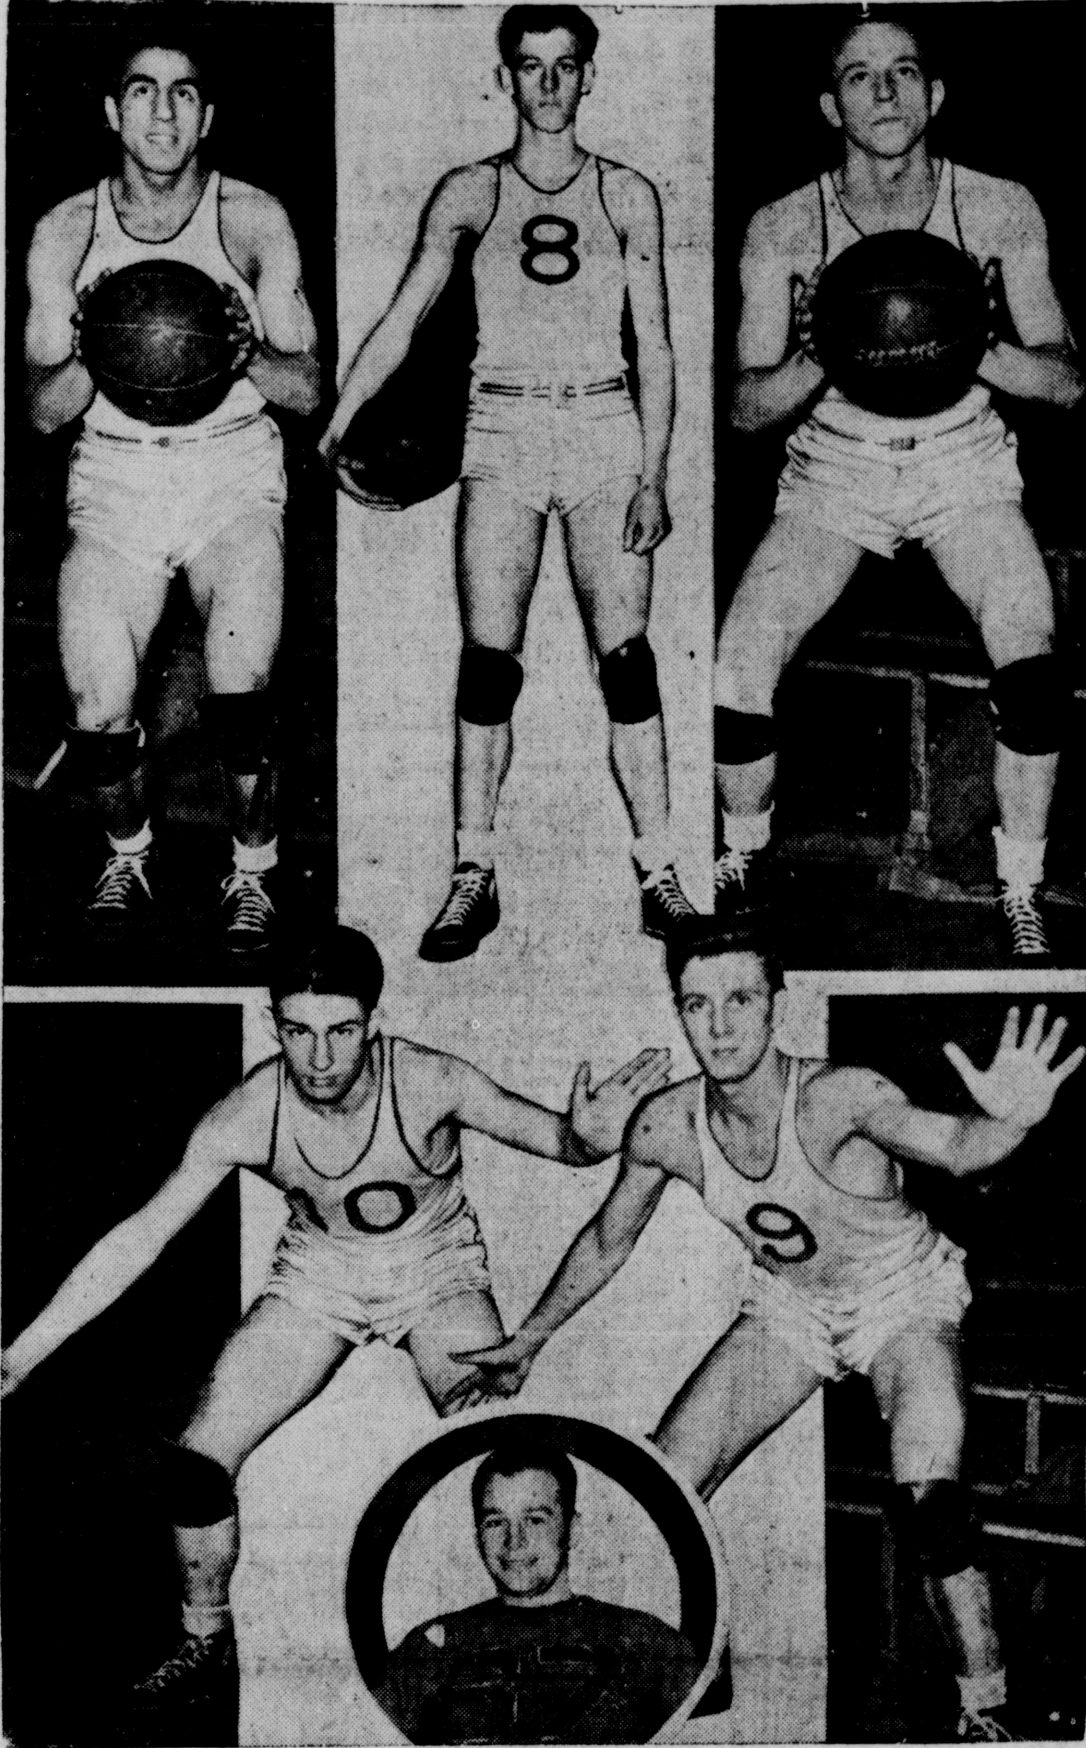

See Cage Game

In the evening, following the banquet, the visitors will be guests of the university at the Indiana-Ohio basketball game. That part of the program was arranged before it could be foretold that Indiana would be at the peak of the Big Ten race and Ohio in the second division, with the Bucks given little chance to upset the Hoosiers. For years complaints have been rampant that too many Ohio school stars are weaned from the Buckeye campus by Michigan and other Big Ten schools—or that layers of Western Conference caliber have gone to Buckeye, Ohio, for conferences, or other schools.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, in addition to honoring the athletes, hopes its banquet, officials said, will result in alleviating some of the complaints and bring more of the high school stars to the campus where the "Scarlet Scourge" is its schooling.

About 40 of the state's high school stars are slated to make up the party of guests.

Quakers Battle These Crimson Cagers

It's these highly-touted Dover High Crimson basketball players that Coach Herb Brown's Quaker bums bump up against on the Salem High school hardwoods here Saturday night. Coach Bup Rearick, shown at the bottom of the accompanying pictures, calls his current team one of the finest he has ever developed at Dover and its record of 12 victories in 15 games seems to bear him out.

Dempsey-Kearns Feud Opened In Battle Tonight

Proteges of Both Men Tangle in Heavyweight Bout in Chicago Stadium

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, the famous feudists of boxing, will fight it out in the Chicago stadium tonight by proxy.

Kearns, former manager of Dempsey, will be in the corner of his heavyweight protegee, Hank Bath of Fort Morgan, Colo., with Dempsey glaring at him while weight, Clarence "Red" Burman, of Baltimore, in a ten round battle.

The Dempsey-Kearns feud, existing for almost 13 years, overshadows the fighters' part in tonight's hostilities, but they will have to do the clouting, and each is ready to win this blood-duel for his manager. The match appears to be a toss-up, although Burman has had more experience than the Kearns protegee, because of the better type of fighters he has met in his eastern campaign.

Kearns maintained that while Dempsey was a great fighter, he is not so good in trying to think for two men. Tonight's bout is expected to clear up this point.

WOOSTER DOWNS ASHLAND 55-41

Nick Frascella Stars In Scots' Triumph; Findlay On Top

Findlay trounced Heidelberg, 27 to 23, last night and Wooster shoved Ashland further into the Ohio conference cellar, 55 to 41.

Ashland, playing at home, kept pace with the Scots fairly well in the first half, which ended with Wooster leading, 28 to 24. The score had been tied seven times.

In the second period Nick Frascella, Wooster sophomore forward began hitting the basket regularly. He scored 16 points on five field goals, and six charity throws during the evening.

Findlay hopped into the lead at the start of its game and held a 19 to 4 margin over the Heidelberg invaders at the intermission. Federic, Findlay forward, led the scoring with six field goals.

not so good in trying to think for two men. Tonight's bout is expected to clear up this point.

U. S. Bob-Sled Team Off to Good Start

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 14.—Three record-smashing runs sent the United States away to a flying start as the two-man bob-sledding championship of the fourth winter Olympic games opened today.

Ivan Brown and Alan Washbond of Keene Valley, N. Y., smashed the Olympic chute record in both of their heats today, negotiating the 1,600 meter course first in 1:22.50 and then in 1:21.02, for total time of 2:43.52.

The other American duo, Gilbert Colgate, Jr., of New York and Dick Lawrence of Branchville, N. J., also bettered the record of 1:25.20, held by Reto Cupadrutt of Switzerland, they were clocked in 1:25.06 on their first run.

The final two heats of the championship will be run tomorrow.

POTTERY LADY KEGLERS LOSE

China Co. Men's Picked Team Finishes Ahead In Challenge Match

"Well, they asked for it." That's possibly what the men bowlers at the Salem China Co. plant are saying today after defeating the Pottery ladies' team, 1,878 to 1,787, in a special match at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

Commenting that they could defeat any men's team in the plant, providing they were allowed to pick the members of the team, the Pottery women keglers had their challenge accepted by a group of lads whose bowling experience was limited.

The result of the challenge came last night and no doubt, the women of the ceramic industry refuse now to make any additional comment except that they did manage to win two of the three games despite their loss in total pins.

Prior's 429 was the high three-game total score among the Pottery women while Jim Armstrong, who only rolled two games, had the high series among the men with a 416.

Haarlow, Kessler In Lively Battle

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Bob Kessler of Purdue, and Bill Haarlow of Chicago, are waging a lively battle for Big Ten basketball scoring honors, but both will have to speed up to better the conference of 167 points set by Joe Reiff of Northwestern in 1933.

Kessler needs 79 points, an average of nearly 16, in his five remaining games to surpass the Wildcat star's mark. He has averaged 12.7 in piling up 89 points in seven contests. Haarlow has 92 points, an average of 12.25, and must score 70 more, or an average of 17.5 in four games, for a new record.

Rules Committee Makes No Changes

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 14.—The National Football Rules committee assembled here today, apparently resolved to keep the gridiron game virtually unchanged.

"Cut out the slow whistle and go home," was the advice handed the gridiron judiciary by Robert G. Zuppke, University of Illinois coach.

And that too, appeared to be the accepted opinion of the official committee which opens its annual three-day meeting here tonight.

Grid Games Listed

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14.—Western Reserve's football team will invade Syracuse Nov. 6, 1937, and will meet Cincinnati Sept. 25, 1937, at Cincinnati, Reserve officials said today.

WISCONSIN ROW SHOWDOWN SEEN

Report of Faculty Athletic Council Is Given Regents' Board

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 14.—A twisted mesh of charges and denials, the University of Wisconsin athletic situation, was tossed back to the regents today to be untangled once and for all.

A report of the faculty controlled athletic council was drafted for submission to the board of regents during a six hour session yesterday at which members reviewed the sensational testimony unearthed in three days of hearings by a five man investigating committee of the regents.

Witnesses charged, and Dr. Clarence W. Spears denied, that Spears, head football coach, had ordered liquor served to players, had called them from the university infirmary in weakened condition to practice, and had worn them down in training.

Dr. Walter Meanwell, athletic director whose friction with Spears was known in campus and alumni circles, admitted he gave two players liquor after a game last season and that he had private agreements with coaches by which he could oust them without publicity.

Salem High Quakers Involved In One Of Six Non-League Tilts

Dover Given Edge But May Have Trouble With Quakers; Barberton Needs Victory to Clinch Second Place In Big Six League

It's rather a dull week-end for the Northeastern Ohio Big Six league with only one inter-loop game scheduled, but for the Salem High school Quakers, who are involved in one of the six, non-league contests when they meet Dovers Crimson basketballers at the High school gym tomorrow night, there's going to be plenty of action.

Blessed with everything a High school court team could desire, including height, veteran players and a wealth of reserve material, Dover is the favorite over the Quakers, but if past performances are significant in making a prediction, the Red and Black cagers can be counted on to make things mighty tough for the Crimson. Warren's crack quintet is still smarting from the defeat handed it when the Quakers proved they can go under pressure.

The Crimson has won 12 of its 15 games to date in impressive fashion. Its defeats, handed out by Akron West, Akron North and Canton McKinley, were all upsets.

The Quakers, with a season's record of six games won as against six lost, fell before Akron St. Vincent in one of their contests last week and topped a fairly strong Youngstown Rayen team in the other.

Lone Big Six Game

In the lone Big Six game of the week-end, Coach Art Francis's Struthers High cagers tangle with the Barberton High Magics, who, with a league record of three wins and one defeat, are striving to hold their second place position.

Magics Need Victory

Only an upset will prevent Barberton from clinching second place in the league when it faces Struthers. The contest will be the final one in the league for the Magics while Struthers has yet to meet Alliance and Salem. Barberton has lost but one game so far this season, that to Massillon. Struthers, who has won eight and lost seven games was defeated by Lowellville last week.

Besides the Salem-Dover tilt, other non-league contests are: Canton McKinley at Massillon, and Niles at Warren tonight, while tomorrow night Alliance is at East Liverpool, Barberton at Wadsworth and Struthers at Boardman.

Massillon, undisputed champion of the league, who lost for the second time this season, when defeated by Akron South last week, seeks revenge in its Stark county contest with Canton McKinley's cagers, who gave the Tigers their first defeat early in the campaign. The Tigers have won 11 games to date.

On the short end of the score in its last seven games, Niles is hopeful of breaking its losing streak at Warren although the chances are small. Warren, leader in the Trumbull county race, whipped Akron Kenmore last week while Niles was downed by Girard.

Saxon Teams Play At Cleveland West

Members of the Salem Saxon boys' and girls' basketball teams who will journey to Cleveland tomorrow for contests with the Cleveland West Saxon quintets are asked to report at the German hall at 3 p. m.

The Salem teams defeated Cleveland West quintets in previous games this season.

"HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY"

by MAXINE CANTY

CHAPTER XV

It was Dad who brought us the news about Melvin. He had been down to headquarters and had picked up a lot of new information. I heard some of the rumors around school late that afternoon, but the papers had not got hold of it yet. So I pounced on Dad as soon as he sat down to eat.

"Dad, is Melvin Wright really a gangster?"

"I don't know whether he is quite as bad as that, Curly, but he is certainly mixed up with some bad characters."

"Who are they?"

"Four or five men, older than Melvin, who hang around the pool hall where he spends most of his time. The girl to whom Miss Sinclair objected is a sister of one of them."

"If they are so bad, why don't the police arrest them?"

"Two of them have served terms and they have all been up for questioning on one job or another. They just haven't anything on them at present. You can't put a man in jail because you know he's no good, Julie; you have to have some definite charge against him."

"What about the Wright boy?" inquired Mother.

"He knew these men, has been seen riding in cars with them, is known to have taken the girl to dances and so forth. He is pretty stubborn and close-mouthed about his acquaintance with them, probably he is afraid to talk. He admits that he got the gun the very day of the murder."

"Do the police think it is the one that fired the shot?"

"No, they don't. But there is always the possibility that the experts might be wrong."

"How does he explain having it?"

"That is where he has more persistence than most boys, or men either. In all this time, he has refused to tell them anything more about it, to make any explanation. No threats or means of persuasion can shake him."

"What is the police theory, Dad?"

"Allen's only question."

"They think of course that one of these notorious characters gave him the gun, for what purpose they still have to find out. They are next in line for questioning."

"Gee!" I exclaimed, "this gets more involved every day. We have half a dozen murderers and we only need one; Bruce, Melvin, Perkins, Hym—"

"And Mrs. Carrington," concluded Dad.

"Oh, what about her?"

"You remember that Carrington had a water-tight alibi for Thursday night but that he made the statement that his wife had left him the Sunday before?"

"Yes."

"The police had no reason for holding him; so he was released and returned to his home on the sly. But the Inspector is not letting up on anything now. He had him watched."

"Have they found out anything new?"

"Nothing about Carrington. He has continued to live in his house with the maid and gardener and to go to San Francisco to his office each day. His mail and telephone calls have been checked thoroughly, too."

"I don't see how the officers do all that."

"It's police technique, Curly. But they missed one thing."

"What was that?"

"The maid's mail. At least she must have received a letter earlier, for yesterday two trunks left the house for Mrs. Carrington."

"For Mrs. Carrington! Then they know where she is?"

"Not through the trunks. They were addressed to a storage company in San Francisco. But they redoubled their efforts, and today she called her husband."

"What did she want?"

"She asked him to overtake the trunks and redirect them to Juarez, Mexico."

"Is she leaving the country?"

"It would seem so."

Melvin admitted he got a gun the day of the murder, but no threats or other means of police persuasion could make him confess . . .

"Then she must be guilty."

"Not necessarily, Juarez is a divorce mill, you know. She and her husband are to meet for a discussion of their divorce before she goes on."

"Oh, Dad, do tell us all about it. Meet where?"

"They were to meet in the hotel from which she was phoning in San Diego."

"Then the police could go right there and get her."

"They did go right there about three hours later, but they didn't get her. She had already checked out."

"I should imagine," said Mother quietly, "that the proposed trip to Juarez for a divorce might be a very clever way of leaving the country for some other purpose."

The next day was Armistice day; so schools were closed that afternoon.

"How about a picnic, Julie?" asked Dicky.

"I didn't know just what to say as I had other plans which I couldn't very well tell him about. But, boy, I had learned to think fast."

"O. K.," was my nonchalant reply, "I'll be ready at four, but not a minute earlier."

"Oh, gee—" he started to protest. "Now, see here, Dicky Ward, if you don't want to go when I can, all right."

"Well, of course I want to go when you can, but I kinda thought that we'd have the afternoon and maybe drive somewhere up in the hills with Jimmy and Bob."

"Go right ahead, Mr. Ward," and I walked off. Of course he followed me, as I knew he would.

"Oh, well, we'll have time to get to the beach. We might have a clam bake."

"O. K. Four o'clock," and I waved my hand as I ducked into a beauty shop. I knew Dicky wouldn't follow me there, and I had got him so worried over our spat that he hadn't had time to ask me why I couldn't go sooner.

The next problem was the smiling girl who came to wait on me. I looked vague, glanced down the alley of booths in the rear and said in what I hoped was a dumb voice, "Is Miss Helen Plant here?"

"Why, no," answered the attendant. "Did she have an appointment?"

"I must have the wrong place. Thank you," and I backed out the door before she could ask any more questions. Dicky was out of sight; so I went to the corner drug store, had a sandwich and ice-cream soda for lunch, and called Mother. I told her I was batting around town and asked her if she could throw a few things together for a picnic about four.

"Where are you, dear? What do you mean, you're 'batting around town'? You know I don't want you to be walking up and down the main streets like some silly high school girls."

"Helen is having her hair done," (which was true, though I wasn't with her), "and I thought I might take a look at the dress you saw in Goucher's window. I won't be on the street much, Mother."

"Very well, dear, but I wish you'd come home early."

"Yes, Mother. And what about the food?"

"I'll have something ready."

"You're a peach! Good-bye."

I didn't like that part of the affair, having almost to lie to my mother. She's awfully fussy and everything and she has lots of old-fashioned ideas, but she really is a good scout. At the time there didn't seem to be anything else to do.

All this having been accomplished, I walked over to the City Hall. There I had to "reconnoiter" again. I entered the county lending library, which is in the basement. From there, after glancing at a couple of books and shooting off a too well-meaning librarian, I got into the main hall. I felt it necessary to scuttle up the stairs rather than to take the elevator, finally arriving at Inspector O'Brien's office without being seen.

CINCINNATI—Troubles for the poor are piling up. Dr. F. K. Harder, city health commissioner, told the Academy of Medicine that persons on a relief diet may have gout, a disease long associated with the rich. Women and even babies can have the disease, and it is not always confined to the foot, Dr. Harder said.

TOLEDO—Toledo Legionnaires scored 62 per cent higher in a memory test than students, chosen at random, at Ohio State university, according to Arthur Grapow, who conducted the questionnaire here. At that, only eight out of 58 knew the color of their auto license plates.

THIS NATURAL FOOD GENTLY REGULATES YOUR SYSTEM

Furnishes Needed "Bulk" for Regular Habits

Your doctor will tell you that keeping healthy depends far more on proper diet than on drugs, that common constipation is usually due to insufficient "bulk" in meals, and that patent medicines give you only temporary relief.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gently acting "bulk" which corrects the cause of common constipation. This "bulk" takes up moisture, forming a soft mass which helps to cleanse the system.

ALL-BRAN gives your body the regular internal exercise it needs to prevent sluggishness. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

Studies on normal men and women have shown that this delicious cereal is perfectly satisfactory. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Consult your doctor if you do not gain relief this way. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk."
